

Into a Bright future (you will Run)

My old friend lend me your ear
I know when you're troubled it's hard to see things clear
I also know when one are feeling down
It's good to have some friends to help you turn things around

So when you're alone and sorrow bound
Close your eyes and hear the sound
Of all our good laugh, fine talks and sweet sin
That's how you climb out from that hole that your in

There's no point in being down,
You take a look around and see what you find
Easy to say, harder to do,
But if you keep on looking down you won't see what's passing you
I know my friend you will look up you will shine like the sun
Into a bright future you will run

Lets bring a toast to good times that we had
Can you even remember those that were bad
But if those bad times ever come
Remember me our toast and our fun

There's no point in being down...

So when it's late and time to go home
Lie down and rest your aching bones
Think of all good times that been and gone
Think of all good times that's yet to come

There's no point in being down...
