

Create your own fate

As the light trance form the night into day
As time trance from a child to a old man where he lays
As the ocean forms the rocks in the bay
There is a cause and effect to everything that you say

As love trance form to lovers to light
As consciousness turns obscuration to light
As the stars turns the night bright
As black makes white

As I believe in what I do, as I believe in you
As I believe I create my own fate
As I believe in lust and in love I trust
Until the day that I must, return to earth and dust

As the fire takes life, and as the fire gives life
As the water makes the smallest plat strife
Towards the sky and the sun and the light
As the small peaces makes up the whole in its might

As who I am to day the breed of yesterday's thoughts
As my need and the greed will leave me hollow
As my fears bring me tears and sorrow
As my choices to day sets the course for tomorrow

As I believe in what I do, as I believe in you
As I believe in life, we are all plants that strife
As I believe in lust and in love I trust
Until the day that I must, return to earth and dust

As the summer has come, and as the summer has gone
As this day will end when the sun descends
As the moon will gloom in its light
As you and me are the peaces that makes up the whole in its might

As I believe in what I do, as I believe in you
As I believe I create my own fate
As I believe in lust and in love I trust
Until the day that I must, return to earth and dust